This brochure is part of the public relations work of the State of Berlin.
It is not intended for sale and may not be used as campaign material for political parties.

In the interests of clear presentation, we do not use both the masculine and feminine pronouns. All references to persons apply equally to all genders (male/female/non-binary).

Astrid-Sabine Busse

Senator for Education, Youth and Family

Dear parents,

At enrolment, you, the parent, and your child will enter into an exciting new stage of life. In this brochure, we offer you useful information and practical tips for this - from registration to enrolment, and even the first months of lessons.

I find it especially important that your child develops a joy for learning at school. Every child is different, and has their own strengths and interests. This is why we introduced the flexible initial phase of school education for Berlin in 2005. This gives each child the opportunity to come to school at the point when it suits their individual stage of development and their own pace of learning. This allows us to welcome each child appreciatively and pick up from where they are.

The primary schools, or Grundschulen, in Berlin have a vast range on offer. All our schools are all-day schools. With extended learning times and flexible leisure times, they offer your child enough space for shared experience, individual support and personal development. Many all-day offers are free of charge - in Berlin, education should not depend on your bank balance. The learning materials will also be made available to your child in Berlin's primary schools, as will their lunch.

Parents who participate in shaping school life also find it very rewarding. Berlin's schools work independently, to a great degree, and utilise the cooperation of the school community. I would be delighted if you were interested and able to participate in a parents' committee at the new school.

I hope you and your child have a good start to the school year and have a lovely time at school filled with success and the joy of learning.

Best wishes,

FROM REGISTRATION TO ENROLMENT

If your child will turn six before 30 September 2023 , they should begin school on 1 August 2023. They will then start a new, exciting stage of their lives, gain important experiences and become more independent.

But where, when and how do you register your child for school? You will find the answers on the following pages.

Here, you will also find out more about the all-day offer and about special educational support at schools in Berlin.

Should your child attend a school with a focus on linguistics, music or a different focus?

Then the comprehensive list of schools with a special curriculum will give you the corresponding overview.

The start of compulsory school attendance

Date of birth	Enrolment
Up to and including 30 September 2017	August 2023
October 2017 to March 2018	August 2024, upon request: August 2023
April to September 2018	August 2024

School registration

In autumn 2022, if your child is subject to compulsory school attendance, you must register your child in the relevant school.

The registration period is from 10 to 21 October 2022.

For school registration, you need:

- the birth certificate and other personal documents of your child,
- your personal documents.

You are welcome to accompany your child so that they can take their first steps into the new learning environment together with you. You may also bring someone else for support, if necessary, an interpreter, for instance.

Supplementary support and care (formerly “after-school care”)

Would you like to have your child cared for at school in the mornings or afternoons? If yes, you can apply for this directly when registering for school.

You can obtain the relevant form from the school or online:
 ← www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/service/formulare

Online school directory of all Berlin schools and their programme
 ← www.bildung.berlin.de/schulverzeichnis

The relevant school

The relevant school for you is the primary school or comprehensive school for which you are in the catchment area, meaning the school which is closest to your home. After all, the route to school should be as short and easy to manage as possible for children just starting school.

A school close to your home also makes it easier for your child to maintain relationships with their classmates outside of school hours as well. An information event before the summer holidays usually provides information about the educational profile and provision of the relevant schools, the supplementary support and care as well as necessary purchases.

Early enrolment

If your child was born before 31 March 2018, you can apply for early enrolment. The requirement for this is that there is no need for support with language development. To apply, please bring your child's QuaStA form on language development with you. If your child was born after 31 March 2018, they may not be enrolled before summer 2024.

Information on language level:
 ← www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/go/sprachstand

Later enrolment

If you are wondering whether your child is really ready for school, please consider that today's schools are different from how they used to be.

Insights into everyday life in the school are helpful when making this decision. This may be in the form of visits during school open days, visiting lessons or discussions with teachers and the nursery. You may also seek advice from the school medical staff.

Application for deferment

Only apply to defer entry to the school by a year if attending a nursery will offer your child better support for their current stage of development.

After consultation with the nursery, they will prepare a professional opinion with a specific support plan for your child. Please submit this document to the relevant school during registration, but no later than 28 February 2023. On the registration form, indicate your desire to defer in the corresponding field. If this is the case, please also arrange an early appointment for the school medical examination.

If you only consider applying for this after the registration deadline, please inform the school of your final decision in writing by 28 February 2023 at the latest.

Decision by the supervision of schools

The supervision of schools in your district decides on whether to grant permission for deferment. In doing so, they consider the opinion from the nursery and the school medical report. A report from the school psychological and inclusion educational advice and support centre (SIBUZ) is only requested in justified cases of doubt or if you request this yourself. If you wish, the supervision of schools can advise you on all questions you may have about later enrolment and the optimal support for your child.

Your place in nursery is safe

Please inform the nursery of the decision by the supervision of schools straight away, but by 30 April 2023 at the latest. The nursery place for your child is then guaranteed. The relevant youth welfare office redeems the corresponding nursery ("Kita") voucher.

Special educational needs

If your child has developmental difficulties, a disability or chronic illness, you should inform the school of this as early as when registering. This allows the school to offer your child the best support from the very beginning. You can also obtain advice with the school on whether you should apply to have the special educational needs recognised.

Changing schools

As a general rule, you always register your child at the primary school or comprehensive school in the catchment area.

You can also apply to change to a different school there if you have the corresponding reasons and these are permitted within the School Act, for example:

- Attending the relevant school would impair your child's intensive personal bonds to other children which have become established over a longer period of time, with siblings, for instance.
- You expressly desire a specific school programme, foreign languages or all-day provision.
- Attending the chosen school would make caring for your child significantly easier, especially based on your employment.

Being accepted at another school is only possible if there are free spaces. If a school receives more applications than it has spaces, the school authority checks each and every case. If applicable, it informs you of another school nearby which can take your child in good time before the summer holidays.

You will receive another brochure about your child's enrolment. This will inform you about:

- the structure of the first school years and lessons,
- the structure of a normal school day,
- how your child learns to read, write and count,
- how your child is assessed without grades, and
- how you as parents can participate in school life.

← www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/go/grundschule

School medical examination Examination procedure

When registering for school, you will also receive information about a legally prescribed school medical examination of your child by the child and youth health service (Kinder- und Jugendgesundheitsdienst).

The aim of this is to medically assess the development and health of your child with regard to learning and everyday life at school.

PLEASE BRING THE FOLLOWING TO THE EXAMINATION:

- Your child's vaccination card,
- yellow medical check-up record,
- if applicable, any aids that your child needs, such as glasses or a hearing aid,
- important medical findings,
- optional: the results of the nursery speech test.

The examination is performed in the morning so that your child can concentrate and is not so tired or exhausted.

As well as the examination duration of around one hour, please also anticipate some waiting time.

The medical staff first talk you and your child through the procedure in the examination. After reviewing your child's health documents (vaccination card, record of medical check-ups) there are age-appropriate eyesight and hearing tests. Your child's weight and height are also measured.

In order to understand their stage of development, your child is given tasks relating to physical coordination, fine motor skills, perception skills, faculty of speech and numerical and quantity reasoning.

The main aim of this is for your child to complete these tasks independently and without your help. They do not have to perform all requirements completely. During the examination, your child's social and emotional development is also taken into account.

After this, the school physician takes time to discuss the examination findings and your questions with you. She will also let you know how you can support your child at home, via the nursery, school or paediatrician.

Finally, the physician notes down their recommendation on attending school in your child's school registration form and, if applicable, any specific health information relating to your child. This information is important so that the school can offer the appropriate support and assistance, if necessary.

Enrolment ceremony and first school day

The enrolment ceremony for your child normally takes place on Saturday, 2 September 2023. The first school day will then be on Monday, 4 September 2023.

Your child's future school will inform you of the exact dates, lesson times and required school materials in good time.

Schoolbags and school cones

You can add to your child's excitement about attending school by allowing them to help choose their schoolbag and stationery.

When choosing this, make sure that your child likes their schoolbag.

The quality is just as important. The bag should be visible to road users, weatherproof, lightweight, comfortable on your child's back, and made from environmentally-friendly materials.

The price is not the important thing, it's more important that the schoolbag fits. You should also check its weight. Ideally, when filled, it should weigh a maximum of ten percent of your child's weight.

As well as a few sweets, practical surprises such as coloured pencils, wax crayons, a lunchbox and drink bottle for break-times, an alarm clock, purse/wallet and hairbrush or colourful reflective strips for their schoolbag.

Your child is sure to be delighted about small toys, a picture book, drawing book or friends book, a skipping rope or a small ball for active breaktimes.

However, there is so much more when it comes to school equipment - from pencils to gym shoes. You will usually receive a detailed list of the required school materials in advance from your child's future class teacher.

The route to school

During enrolment, your child will learn how to tackle traffic situations on the route to school independently or together with other children. Please make sure that your child is well prepared:

- Ensure that your child has a good night's sleep and a good breakfast before they leave for school.
- Choose the safest route without difficult crossing points and other hazard areas.
- Avoid taking the car and walk to school with your child, even if the weather is inclement. Movement in the fresh air is good for your child's health and concentration. You should also avoid dangerous traffic situations in front of the school which may put all school children at risk.
- Repeatedly walk the route to school with your child. First, take them by the hand. Then, let them lead you, little by little until they can do it alone. Then, observe their behaviour and practice where and how to cross the road with the most safety.
- When practicing the route to school, also bear in mind any possible hazard situations. Discuss your child's behaviour with them, for example, if the pedestrian lights are not working, if the route is blocked or if other people ignore the red pedestrian light.

SCHÜLERTICKET

The Schülerticket, or school student ticket, for local transport within Berlin is free of charge for all school children. You can register for the "fahrCard" online at:

← www.bvg.de/schuelerticket

To do this, you only need to upload your child's school ID and a passport photo as image files. Children older than six years old who still do not attend school may also use the ticket. As proof, they may use the notification of acceptance of the school, educational placement or the deferment decision from the supervision of schools.

BERLIN'S SCHOOLS ARE ALL-DAY SCHOOLS

School is more than group learning in a class. It is also social interaction. The all-day school's aim is to encourage this.

In addition to lessons, teachers and education support workers offer a versatile and multi-sensory education experience in cooperation with sports clubs, music schools, church communities, businesses or other partners. It ranges from having lunches together to support and care for children in the afternoons, and even leisure activities. This makes it easier for you to have a balance in your working and family life.

The structure of the school day and class times are decided at each school individually. They determine the start of lessons, that classes last for 45 minutes or whether classes are consolidated into blocks with longer breaktimes.

Open schools or schools with compulsory all-day attendance

For primary school children, Berlin distinguishes between the open all-day schools and the schools with compulsory all-day attendance (page 11). In both school forms, your child has after-school care in addition to classes - as well as active breaks, breakfast and lunch. This supplementary offering of study groups, homework, physical activity and play is free of charge for years 1 and 2.

Parents of children in years 3 to 6 are expected to contribute to the costs for the supplementary after-school care. The amount depends on the parental income and extent of care.

Lunch together

In the all-day school, all children from years 1 to 6 can eat together and for free.

More information on the all-day school
← www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/go/ganztagsschule

BENEFITS FOR LOW-INCOME FAMILIES

Parents who receive Unemployment Benefit II (Arbeitslosengeld II), Housing Benefit (Wohngeld) or Social Benefit (Sozialgeld), Income Support (Sozialhilfe), the Supplementary Child Allowance (Kinderzuschlag) or Asylum-Seeker Assistance (Asylbewerberleistungen). This includes, for instance: 150 euros per year for school supplies such as schoolbags, pencil cases, exercise books and pens.

← www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/bildungspaket

Application for supplementary support and care (after-school care)

Each school decides whether to offer supplementary after-school care to their pupils. They mainly organise the offer themselves or in cooperation with a representative of the free youth welfare organisation.

You can download the application form for supplementary support and care online:

← www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/service/formulare/#hort

You may then simply hand the completed form in to your school along with your school registration and with all the necessary documents.

The youth welfare office decides on the application, the determined need and the extent of care. If you have received the notification, you can sign a corresponding contract with the youth welfare office or the representative of the free youth welfare organisation.

Support for children with disabilities or illnesses

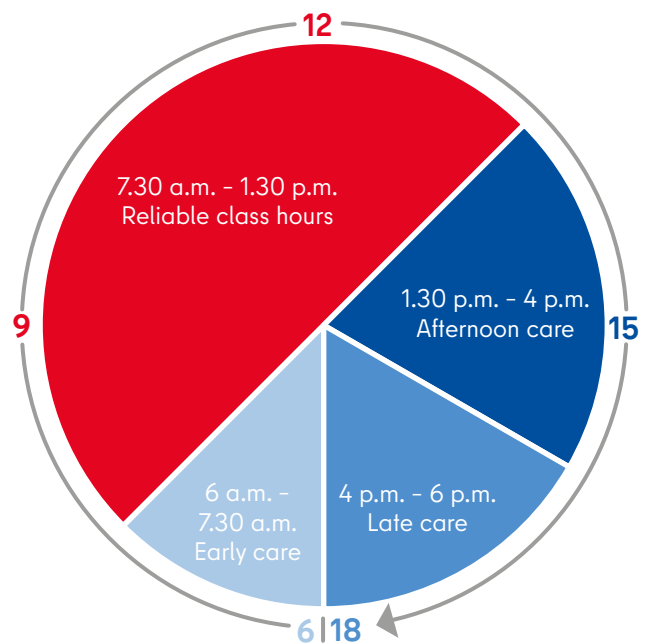

For your child to have the optimal support from the very beginning, please indicate in your application whether your child is part of the category of persons in accordance with Section 35a SGB VIII, Sections 53 or 54 SGB XII or Section 99 SGB IX.

It is also helpful to state whether a need for additional educational staff has already been determined. The reasons for this may be a disability, chronic illness or developmental difficulties.

Open all-day primary school

The open all-day primary school covers the half-day primary school with reliable class hours (verlässliche Halbtagsgrundschule) (red), the supplementary all-day provision and the school holiday provision between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m.

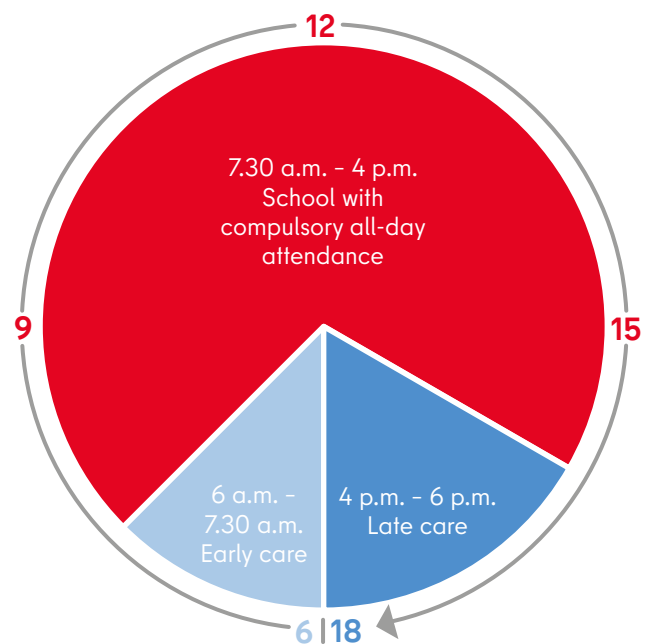

In any case, you must apply for the supplementary support and care in the school. With the exception of afternoon care for children in years 1 and 2, you must prove the need for this by way of the corresponding documents. All all-day provisions are free of charge for years 1 and 2 - and parents are expected to contribute to the costs for years 3 to 6.

School with compulsory all-day attendance

At the school with compulsory all-day attendance, the school day on at least four days a week lasts from 7.30 a.m. until 4 p.m. (red). Here, the activities alternate between lessons and supplementary offerings. The entire school provision is free of charge during this time.

In addition, there are supplementary early or late modules as well as holiday care. These offers are free of charge for years 1 and 2 - and parents are expected to contribute to the costs for years 3 to 6. In both cases, you must apply for this support and prove your need for it.

THE FIRST STEPS ARE EASY

The age of your child says little about their stage of development. Even children of the same age may differ significantly from one another in terms of their competences. Some can already read, write and count after just a few weeks at school, and others only achieve this after a year. The schools in Berlin respond to these differences in development by supporting each child individually. Each school has devised their own pedagogical plan for this.

Flexible initial phase of school education

For all children to be able to learn at their own pace, the duration of the first phase of school varies between children. The flexible initial phase of school education generally covers two years, or three years at some schools.

Children who require more time to lay the foundations for further learning may extend the initial phase of school by one more year.

If a child has a faster pace of learning thanks to particular abilities or a good start in life, they can advance to year 3 after just one year.

As children also learn very well with and from one another in a mixed-age group, many schools form mixed classes in the initial phase.

Mixed-age learning

In mixed-age learning, younger and older children take part in lessons together. In doing so, each child follows their own pace of learning without having to switch to a different learning group or teacher.

Many schools offer the mixed-age learning principle for years 1 and 2, 3 and 4, some also offer it for years 1 to 3 and 4 to 6.

LEARNING TOGETHER

Berlin is moving towards an inclusive school system. Here, all children should be able to learn together and with equal opportunities. This applies whether your child has a disability or no disability, and regardless of their different performance, abilities, and their social, ethnic or cultural origin. The characteristics and needs of each and every child are the primary factors.

Inclusive school

The integrative approach of teaching both children with and without special educational needs together has been tried and tested. The inclusive school offers each pupil the best possible learning opportunities. For children with serious disabilities, there are also inclusive specialist schools.

The special educational focus points include:

- language,
- mental development,
- emotional and social development,
- physical and motor development,
- sight,
- hearing and communication,
- learning (from year 3, reviewable from year 1) or
- autism.

Special educational support for children with disabilities

If the parents wish, children with determined special educational needs may attend the relevant school, an inclusive specialist school or a school with a special educational focus.

First, you make the application for special educational support. The school psychological and inclusion educational advice and support centre (SIBUZ) make the decision about whether there are special educational needs.

To do this, they charge a teacher specialising in special needs education with writing a report based on information which has been obtained

- from you,
- from the nursery staff,
- if applicable, from SIBUZ, specialist physicians or other institutions and any tests which were carried out.

If these needs are confirmed, an individual support plan is required. The teaching staff, specialist (such as representatives from the youth welfare office, from the school psychology service) and you as a parent are then advised on the recommended support and possible education.

This is normally the desired school, provided that the staffing and spatial requirements are met and that there are free school places available.

Your participation is expressly desired to discuss and achieve the development and educational aims for your child together with the school.

Advice and support

The supervision of schools can advise you in the search for a suitable school for children with disabilities or significant and long-lasting impairments which is close to your home. SIBUZ can answer any questions relating to special educational support.

SCHOOLS WITH A SPECIAL CURRICULUM

The schools in Berlin have a wide range of learning offers and focus points with the aim of providing the best possible education for every child. In addition, many schools specialise in specific topics and subjects in order to support interested or gifted children in particular. These range from a musical to artistic or sports-related orientation, and even a linguistic orientation.

If your child is to attend a school with a particular focus or a (different) comprehensive school, please apply for enrolment in the desired school when registering for your relevant school. The general registration deadline also applies here.

If the limited spaces in your desired school are already taken, please also consider other options. However, either way, you can be sure: even the schools without a special profile will offer dedicated educational work.

You can find detailed information about all schools in the online directory of schools:

www.bildung.berlin.de/schulverzeichnis →

Here, you have the following options:

- search according to various criteria and offers,
- determine the relevant school for your place of residence,
- show all schools near your home including links to the respective websites.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS (SCHULEN IN FREIER TRÄGERSCHAFT)

These are fee-based, state-accredited alternative schools. Along with the public primary schools, they make up the bulk of the Berlin school landscape. Here, among other things, there are alternative and progressive education concepts, religious orientations or bilingual lesson offers. Here, the schools decide for themselves about how to award school places. The teaching and education aims and transition recommendations correspond to those of the public schools.

- State-accredited alternative schools
- State-accredited alternative schools - They do not prepare any support forecasts and average grades for registration at a public secondary school.

SCHOOLS WITH A PARTICULAR FOCUS

Schools with a music focus

At primary schools with a music focus, the children are offered additional music classes with the option of learning to play an instrument.

SCHOOLS WITH A LINGUISTIC FOCUS

Staatliche Europa schools

In this all-day school with compulsory all-day attendance and a focus on encountering other cultures, the pupils are taught in two languages from year 1 until their Abitur – half of the time in German and half of the time in another language. The classes are taught by teachers and education support workers in their respective native language. All pupils have access to the SESB – regardless of their place of residence and nationality. The acceptance process before enrolment determines whether their knowledge in German or in one of the other languages is adequate.

French as a first foreign language

Some schools offer French as the first foreign language from year 3 – if at least 15 pupils register for it. If this number is not reached, your school will be happy to inform you of other schools in the district with the French provision. At certain secondary schools, French can be studied as the first foreign language. Alternative offers are bilingual German-French classes or the French Gymnasium.

“Language of origin” lesson provision

Arabic, Kurdish (Kurmanji), Polish, Russian, Turkish and Vietnamese: children with these languages of origin learn how to speak and write their respective language of origin with two hours per week, thus creating a basis for multilingualism and successful learning. Depending on demand, other districts and schools may also offer this. Please enquire at your child’s school to find out more.

COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOLS

Consisting of a primary and secondary level, these inclusive schools offer a continuous education journey from year 1 to 10 or to the Abitur. The transition from the basic level to the lower secondary level is guaranteed for all children.

Two thirds of children starting school are accepted from the catchment area and up to a third are children who live further away, whose parents prefer the concept and the school programme of the comprehensive school (comprehensive school).

The schools work within a class grouping system, which means that the children learn together regardless of their performance.

The performance is assessed and graded by way of reports and meetings with parents, children and teaching staff, as well as individual entries in log books or proficiency tables. Up until semester 1 of year 9, numerical grades are not used. Here, parents and pupils generally participate to a greater degree in school life, for example, in the class council, pupil parliament or parents' café.

ACCESSIBLE SCHOOLS

Schools which are structured with accessibility needs in mind make it easier for children with disabilities to access the school and its spaces, to learn together with children who do not have a disability. Above all, this includes an accessible car park, accessible entrances and lifts as well as an accessible toilet.
